Our History:

Since opening our first high-street store over 20 years ago, we've striven to bring you ever better products at ever-better prices. In the years following the opening of our flagship store, we opened several other stores across the West Country selling a variety of products across a wide range of departments. Our products proved so popular that we decided to open our arms up to the country as a whole. In 2010, our online store was born.

Our Brands

As our online store has expanded, so too has the range of products we sell. In addition to buying products from established brands, our buying team has branched out into designing products exclusively for This Is It Stores. Our own brand products are meticulously tested before going online to ensure they're of the highest standard. Our camping range, Trail, has grown into one of the biggest online outdoor leisure brands.
